COURT UNEVENTFUL

ALMOST NOTABLE FOR ITS LACK OF SPECIAL INTEREST.

MANY ASK FOR DIVORCE

Review of More Important Cases in Term Which Opens Monday Given Below.

That term of court which opens Monday may suit the judge and the lawyers, but it is certainly unsatisfactory to a newspaper man. For it is eventful in its uneventfulness. Most of the docket, both equity and criminal, are cases of little importance, many of which will not even be tried.

The greatest interest will center around the divorce cases, of which there are nineteen, and one suit to annul marriage. Mrs. Nancy Smith, as best friend of Hazel Staples, asks that the wedding contract between her and Harold A. Staples be cancelled. The petition states that the couple, who were married last year when the bride was only 16 years old, have never lived together.

Most of the petitions for separation and divorce were brought by the women. The names of the couples follow: Cora E. vs. Arthur B. Roberts; Ester B. vs. Jesse F. Reynolds; Gertrude vs. Walter S. Cogdill; Sylvester vs. Mary L. McBride; Ethel vs. Frank Griffith; Leota vs. Frank P. Coffin; Emma vs. Lewis D. Nash; Calve C. vs. Hattie Hood; Robert K. vs. Fannie M. Archer; Pearl vs. Earl McKinney; Ida B. vs. Henry H. Bridger; James L. vs. Grace M. Mozingo; Jessie M. vs. Albert R. Swann; Harley vs. Lena Page; George vs. Sarah Davis; Henry L. vs. Lena Hawley; Sylvia vs. Lewis Newman; Henry vs. Mary Blacketer; Charles W. vs. Minnie A. Cummings.

Everet A. Bagley faces a charge of forgery. Two defendants, John Funderburg and Harry Epperson, must answer to the serious charge of carnal knowledge. Mr. and Mrs. Perry Smith will be tried for keeping a gaming device, and Carl Black is charged with furnishing liquor to a minor.

H. J. Beedle asks $500 for the death of two colts, and Ed Allen for damage by sparks from the Chicago Great Western Railway company. Mildred Anderson asks for $1,000 from the city of Maryville for injuries received when she fell from a bridge into a small ravine on Fifth street, near Walnut, April 5.

J. A. Ford and John Aley are suing the Wabash railroad for damages, and Charles McIntyre wants damages from the C., B. & Q.; James B. Horton and Bernard F. Dougan are suing the C. G. W. Two individual damage suits are on file; John H. Hansen vs. John G. Thornhill; Charles W. Cummings vs. William Louden.

Michael Emge and Antoine A. Steffes will be examined October 1 for their eligibility for citizenship. Emmett Growney, Phil Growney, John Eagan, Thomas Eagan, Jess and Alonzo Curtin will be charged with disturbing a public assembly at Conception Junction.

Twenty-four gaming cases are on the docket. Harlan Reece has eight counts against him on that charge, most of which were "inherited" from the former prosecutor by W. G. Sawyers, prosecuting attorney. John McGuire, Elmer Cogdill and Alf Thornton face assault charges.

The rest of the cases have interest only for those immediately concerned. In the equity and trial dockets are fourteen suits on notes, sixteen tax suits, nine parole cases and six partition suits; nine wish to perfect titles, and five are trying to collect accounts through the courts.

Call for Papers.

Extra copies of the woman's edition cannot be delivered by the carrier boys. Papers will be reserved at The Democrat-Forum office for those who have placed orders in advance. Those who have not ordered may be supplied by young ladies on the streets Saturday evening or at the office while the supply lasts.

IT WAS A BEAUTEOUS NIGHT

So Everybody Came Out to Hear the Band in Last Outdoor Concert.

It was a beauteous night, calm and fair. That's what the young man with his lady, also beauteous and fair, said last night.

Thirty-seven automobiles and one—no, not a Ford, but one lonesome horse—were drawn up around the band stand between Third and Fourth streets on Main street. All the cars and the buggy were loaded with people who did not want to miss that last concert of the Fourth Regiment band.

The walks were crowded, the regular audience being swelled by the Normal students. Jimmy had spent his nickel for popcorn and Nellie her penny for a stick of gum and all were happy.

The next time we can hear Prof. T. B. Maulding and his musicians will be in the first of the Sunday afternoon concerts, probably October 3, at the Empire theater.

DO YOU SMOKE CIGARETTES?

You Do!—Then Stay Away From Kirksville, for the Girls Will Shun You.

If you can't get along without the "filthy weed" stay away from Kirksville. One hundred and fifty-two (152, count 'em) of the most beautiful and attractive young maidens of the city have sworn a solemn oath not to associate themselves with anyone who uses the cigarette.

That Adair county seat will sure be a popular town now with the drummers of cigar houses and the Missouri meerschaum. For the dear girlies have no objections to a Havana or even to the good old corn cob pipe.

Worse than ever, the young women are not confined to any particular class. High school sweet-sixteeners, Normal school teachers-to-be, and even business women of rather uncertain age have signed the dreadful compact. The number is expected to go beyond two hundred this week.

And sh-h-h! Perhaps you've guessed it. They are reformers. The gentler sex have all faith that their attractions will be greater than those of the "little white pills." They are bold to say that they believe that the boys will all give up the bad habit when they see that they can enjoy no desirable feminine company unless they do.

We shall see what we shall see.

MT. TABOR READY

WILL DEDICATE SCHOOL TOMORROW IN GRAND STYLE.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

Program of Recitations by Pupils and Addresses by Teacher and County Officers—Basket Dinner.

The big day in the Mt. Tabor school district, three miles northeast of Elmo, is tomorrow. Their new and modern $1,600 school house will be dedicated with music, speeches and a basket dinner. Declamations will be given by Homer and James Woods and Georgia Williamson.

The Elmo band will furnish music throughout the day and the Braddyville orchestra will give several special numbers. The address of welcome will follow the program by the children. It will be delivered by Leonard Yaple.

Miss Laura Walton, who is so fortunate as to be the teacher selected for the coming term, will make an address, after which the good things will be brought forth. A real old-time basket dinner is promised. This time will also be used for an inspection of the building and grounds.

The county school superintendent, Bert Cooper, will make an address at 2 o'clock, followed by Dan R. Baker, county recorder. Then the new ball grounds will be dedicated by a game between Elmo and the Mt. Tabor district. The day's festivities will begin at 10 o'clock.

The school board of the Mt. Tabor district is S. G. Williamson, president; E. O. James, clerk; Edgar Carlson and Earl A. Hopper. They and the people are very proud of their new school building, and justly so. It is considered one of the model rural school houses of the state.

The ultimate purpose of the people of the district is to make the Mt. Tabor school building a community center. With that in view, all arrangements are made for athletics, dinners and social affairs of every kind.

The people mean business, as was shown by the fact that a second election was held this summer to vote $1,600 in bonds when it was found that $1,400 was not adequate.

Besides being modern in all its heating, lighting, ventilating and other arrangements of seating and the like, the building has manual training equipment, and a large basement for indoor play. A large number of visitors from all over the county is expected at the exercises tomorrow to help celebrate the happy event in the Mt. Tabor district.

Prof. S. E. Davis of the Normal and Fred Hull expect to attend from here.

REV. MILLER HAS "1001" DAY."

Picture of Former Christian Church Pastor's Bible School.

A picture of "1001 day" in the First Christian church of Greeley, Col., of which the Rev. C. J. Miller is pastor, comes with special interest at this time, when the Christian church here is planning for a "999 plus you" day in their Bible school.

Rev. Mr. Miller was formerly pastor of the Christian church here. The picture, which covers a double page, is printed in The Lookout, a paper devoted to Bible school and young people's interests. The slogan of the Greeley Bible school was "One of 1001."

ST. JOE LOSES 3-2

BOOSTERS TAKE 11 INNING GAME FROM THE ALL-STARS.

IS PICKERING AFRAID?

Boys From North Have Cancelled Six Games This Year—Last Base Ball of Season.

It seems to be proved. The Maryville Boosters believe that the Pickering team is afraid of them. Yesterday made the sixth time this season that the games between the two teams had been called off by Pickering.

But the Boosters didn't care except for the little time yesterday morning when they didn't know whether they could get a game or not. When they were assured by the All-Stars of St. Joseph that the city team would come they were pleased, for it gave them a chance to avenge a 5-1 defeat earlier in the season.

And it happened even so. The Boosters won yesterday afternoon 3-2. It took them eleven innings to do it, but they did, thanks to a drive over the head of St. Joseph's center fielder by Walter Wray, which scored Scott, who had just made a two-bagger.

Maryville's other two runs were made by Black, who pounded out a home run in the fourth with a teammate already on the bases. Engel, the All-Stars' catcher, was responsible for both of the visitors' runs by means of two clean singles.

The game was rather slow until the fifth inning, when the two teams settled down and played airtight ball until the winning run in the eleventh. Wakeman, pitching for the Boosters, yielded six hits and one walk. Mansfield for St. Joseph was hit for eight safties and permitted three free trips to first.

Richardson was the battery partner of Wakeman. The rest of the line-up was: Tilson, 1b; Black, 2b; Scott, ss; Wray, 3b; Leach and Adams, lf; Woodard, c, and Wiles, rf. I. B. Williams umpired the game. It was so free from errors that he had a rather comfortable time for an umpire.

The game marked the last of the professional and semi-professional base ball in Maryville this season. The Boosters would like to meet that Pickering team, but it's getting too cold. Stove-side discussions of the world series will have to entertain the fans the rest of the season unless they like a good high school game.

CONCEPTION MAN ARRESTED.

John Wilson Charged With Theft From Great Western Car.

John Wilson, alias John H. Williams, was arrested Wednesday evening by City Marshal G. L. Purcell on a state warrant, charged with stealing 6,500 El Roi Tan cigars, valued at $367.50, the property of the C. G. W. railway.

The information was filed by H. P. Wandling, C. G. W. special agent, before John W. Wilson, justice of the peace of St. Joseph. The alleged offence was committed July 17. It appears that Williams disposed of the stolen property to a party in St. Joseph, who positively identified him as the party from whom he purchased the cigars. Williams was taken to St. Joseph Wednesday evening for a preliminary hearing.—Conception Junction Courier.

ELMO BARBER SHOT

HOWARD M'CLARON SAID HE WAS CLEANING THE REVOLVER.

HADTHREATENED SUICIDE

Bullet Entered Left Abdomen, Inflicting a Fatal Wound Probably—Said to Have Been Drinking.

Howard McClaron of Elmo is lying at the point of death at St. Francis hospital in this city, as the result of a revolver shot which was self-inflicted at 6 o'clock last night at the McClaron barber shop in Elmo.

The young man, in his account of the accident to the attending physicians, said he was cleaning the revolver when it was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered his abdomen at the left side, and penetrated deeply, making an extremely critical wound.

The young man was attended last night by Dr. R. E. Ferguson of Elmo. He was brought to the hospital in this city to be treated this morning, accompanied by Dr. Ferguson and his mother, Mrs Mary McClaron. Late this afternoon his condition was precarious.

Friends Fear Attempted Suicide.

Mr. McClaron is 28 years old and unmarried. For some time he has been in partnership with his brother, Wesley McClaron, running a barber shop at Elmo.

Friends of the young man living at Elmo say that McClaron has remarked several times that he would some day kill himself, and feel that he might have been cleaning the revolver with the intention of attempting suicide.

It is also said that McClaron was at times a heavy drinker and at such times had made threats of suicide, both to members of his family and to others. He was alone in the barber shop at the time of the accident last night.

Several persons in an adjoining part of the building heard the shot and rushed in to find Mr. McClaron seriously wounded. Beside the young man's mother, his two brothers and three sisters are in Maryville today, summoned here by his serious condition.

Iowa Guests Here.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Job of Fairfield, Ia., are visiting at the home of Mr. Job's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Job, and with his brothers and sister, Eldon and W. L. Job and Mrs. E. F. Shelton, all living west of Maryville.

The First Baptist church of this city will have their annual home-coming day on Sunday, October 3. It will be an all-day service and the Sunday school leaders are trying to have 500 at Sunday school that morning. The men's class of the church are intending to furnish 100 of the 500 expected. L. C. Gann is president of the men's class.

The suggestion was made by a motorist recently, that a flag should be placed at the corners of the "new" roads between Burlington Junction and Maryville, warning tourists away from the bad lane two miles east of town until it is repaired. The lane is on the Glidden route, and as all the poles are marked, tourists who are not acquainted with the road naturally follow the markings and damage their cars in the mud holes that decorate the lane. It is to be hoped that some agreement will be reached soon on this road, for it is discouraging for the farmers to keep up the other roads and this one lane spoil the whole shooting match.—Burlington Junction Post.

Baby Zebra and Mother In Central Park (New York) Zoo.

New York city is the proud possessor of two zoological gardens, one in Central park and the other in Bronx park. The latter is the larger and is said to be one of the finest institutions of its kind in the world. Central park zoo is much smaller, but still it contains a number of specimens of rare animals. In one respect Central park zoo leads. It now has a baby zebra, said to be the first of its species born in captivity in this country. The picture shows the little fellow being fondled by his mother. The youngster is a finely marked specimen of his race and is as frisky as a young colt. William Snyder, head keeper of the zoo, will soon have the little fellow christened with appropriate ceremonies.

The Queer Penguins.

Sir Ernest Shackleton, who led the British antarctic expedition which so nearly reached the south pole, tells amusing anecdotes of the penguins, that, when standing upright, look from a distance like a lot of dignified gentlemen in black coats and white waistcoats, and many a time shipwrecked castaways in the southern hemisphere, approaching some desolate coast, have imagined the distant penguins sitting upright upon a rocky shore to be human beings. Sir Ernest tells that one day a big penguin strolled into camp and saw one of the shaggy dogs. Mr. Penguin stared and stared and came closer to see what manner of beast this might be, until the dog snapped playfully at the bird's funny short legs. Next day the penguin came again to camp with a personally conducted party of penguins, apparently to show them the dog. They came often after this, and the explorers amused themselves by occasionally giving them a concert with the phonograph, to whose music the birds bobbed around in a circle with much apparent pleasure. About fifteen species are known. The king penguins are the largest. They exist in colonies of many thousands.—Farm Journal.

A Paste Pot Party.

Did you ever give a paste pot party? You'll need some old magazines and a pair of shears, as well as a blank book in which to paste pictures. You can make the blank book yourself from pieces of plain, smooth paper, and, in fact, each little guest might enjoy making such a book for herself or himself. Sick children always like to look at scrap books, and so you might send the ones you make at the party to a hospital after you have finished with them.

A set of cut out paper dolls should be given each child to carry home as a souvenir of the occasion.

Origin of a Word.

The origin of "windfall" in the sense of good luck dates back to the time of William the Conqueror. It was then a criminal offense to cut timber in the forests. Only such could be gathered as the wind had blown down; hence a heavy windstorm was hailed by the peasants as so much good luck, and from this we get the term.

Scarecrow and Snow Man.

The scarecrow was chasing the snow man.
No, it wasn't a dream at all,
For I saw them as plain as daylight
From the top of our garden wall

There were miles and miles between them,
Or ... perhaps I should say,
For ... man passed in December
And ... scarecrow passed in May.

The chase was very exciting.
As on and on they whirled,
But they came no nearer together,
For I followed them round the world.

But the winds blew hard on the scarecrow,
And he found no place to hide;
They tore him to rags and tatters
And scattered him far and wide.

And the sun beat down on the snow man,
In his garments of dingy white;
I saw him grow smaller and smaller
Till he vanished quite out of sight.

But each year the chase is repeated;
You can see it as well as I
If you live near my father's garden
And watch while they're passing by.
—St. Nicholas.

BEDFORD CASE "RE-REVIVED"

Attorney in Omaha Says He is On Trail of Important Evidence—New Grappling Machinery.

That the old murder case at Bedford, Ia., which was revived several months ago, is to be investigated again and the charges pushed was stated to the St. Joseph News-Press yesterday in a dispatch from Omaha: It follows:

Attorney W. W. Bullman of Chariton, Ia., the lawyer who worked up the fifty-year-old murder case against four aged men at Bedford, Ia., two months ago, is in Omaha today en route to Colorado to secure additional evidence against the four associates. The new evidence is to be presented to the grand jury at its meeting next month.

"I was out in Nebraska yesterday and obtained an important piece of evidence," said Mr. Bullman. "I can't divulge the nature of it today. The case has not been dropped, but is being pushed harder than ever. Tonight I go to Denver and from there out into Colorado, where I understand a man has some very important testimony in the case.

"I am now having constructed a piece of special machinery for grappling purposes. Twelve thousand dollars out of the gold chest was stolen when the chest was recovered ten years ago. This $12,000 was placed in a bucket, sealed up and dropped into a 90-foot bored well, only fourteen inches in diameter. It was left in the well a number of years and when the bunch tried to recover it the weight of the gold broke out the bottom of the bucket, which had rotted, and the whole thing dropped back into the well. They have never been able to recover it, and as soon as my machinery is completed I will start grappling for it. It will be an important link in my chain of evidence. The well is near the Klondike farm, and I already have full permission to grapple. Very soon there will be another surprising move in the case."

Premiums for Township Exhibitors.

The merchants of Burlington Junction are offering a number of premiums to the poultry fanciers of this township who exhibit in the Northwest Missouri Poultry association show December 1 to 4. The prizes will be only for the people from this township, and as there will be seven or eight exhibitors all will receive good prizes.

Mrs. W. P. Nicholas, township vice president of the association, has charge of the plans and has been successful in interesting a number of fanciers from Nodaway township to exhibit. It is the general belief that, by getting the poultry raisers and the public in general interested this fall a good corn and poultry show can be held in Burlington Junction next year. We have a number of fancy corn growers, and many good pens of poultry in the township, and all we need to make a good show is a Moses.

The merchants who will give prizes to the Nodaway township exhibitors are: First National bank, Northwestern bank, Vance store, J. W. High School Notes

By KENNETH VAN CLEVE

The assemblies at the high school this year will be on the same days as last year, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, beginning at 1:20.

Miss Dora Otis of Hopkins, who has spent the last five years in China, spoke Tuesday afternoon of this week to the students about some of the customs and manners of the Chinese, particularly their school life.

Prof. C. A. Hawkins also came down to the high school Tuesday and gave a short talk after Miss Otis had finished.

The two freshman classes together have a large enrollment this year, the total number of "little ones" being eighty-two, forty-one girls and the same number of boys. The senior classes together have seventeen boys and twenty-eight girls. Out of this number the advanced have five boys and eight girls to eleven boys and twenty-one girls of the beginning fourth year class. Miss Laura Hawkins is class adviser to the midyear class, while Miss Keeler acts in that position over the beginning seniors.

The Athletic association of the high school is doing very well this year. Fifty-two members are signed up at present and probably more will get in line later on. A good season in athletics is expected this year.

The advanced seniors are having trouble in selecting their class pins. All classes have the same trouble, it being hard for every member to decide on the same pin.

The beginning seniors had their first gathering together Wednesday night, when they went out on an intended moonlight picnic, but the moon was late in showing up that evening, owing to the location of the clouds.

The "ninth hour," or after school period, has begun again this year, much to the disgust of the students, especially to the boys wanting to get out early and play base ball these days.

The last year's graduates and others who went to M. U. as freshmen from Maryville this fall are sending back startling accounts, illustrated with pictures enclosed, of the many trials and hardships they are forced to undergo at the hands of the sophs. Yes, you happy looking high school seniors of today, you may laugh now when you read one of their letters, but just wait until about this time next year. No doubt you'll get what's coming to you also.

The assembly period Thursday afternoon was turned over to Prof. Becker, manual training instructor and coach, for a talk on school spirit, not only in athletics but in all branches. He made a rousing good talk, and from appearances the high school will be ready to deliver the goods in school spirit this year. Here's hoping, anyway.

The orchestra, glee clubs, dramatic and debating societies and other organizations of the high school will go together again soon. The orchestra has been practicing through vacation and should be able to give a good program some time soon.

The base ball tournament of the three high school teams is still in order each Monday, Wednesday and Friday of good weather. The Pirates and Braves are tied with two games won and one lost apiece, while the Tigers hold down third place with one game won and three lost. A pennant will probably be given to the team winning the tournament.

Bought Great Angus Bull.

Edwin F. Caldwell returned the last of the week from Brandon, Manitoba, Can., where he bought the fine imported Aberdeen Angus bull, Evreaux of Havleston. This animal is four years old, weighs twenty-four hundred pounds and cannot be beaten any place. There was a great deal of competition among Angus owners for this animal and the Caldwells were fortunate in securing it for their herd. Another fine bull added to their show herd last week was Blackup Bertram which Edwin bought from the McHenry herd at Denison, Iowa. With these two animals, for which the Caldwells paid $7,000, their show herd will be the best in the country.

The Caldwell herd is resting at Sedalia this week and will be shown at the state fair next week. They won all of the important prizes at the Kans as state fair at Topeka, Kan., last week —Burlington Junction Post.

999 and you—Sunday morning, Christian church.

Letter to Mr. Berney Harris,
Maryville, Mo.

Dear Sir: It's an old saying: the best advertisement is a pleased customer.

It happens to us continually in this way: A man buys Devoe for his house —he has painted it once in three years for a dog's age, and thinks he knows what he wants—buys 30 gallons, and has 10 left.

He sees right off that 20 Devoe is as much as 30 of anything else. He likes that; it comes quick; it is a surprise; and he tells of it. The best advertisement is a pleased customer.

Three years roll round. There isn't a sign that his house needs paint; he don't paint it. Next year he don't paint it. This comes slow; it is a surprise; but he has got used to it. Still the best advertisement is a pleased customer.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.,
New York, Chicago and Kansas City.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of Billie Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin, who was taken away September 20, 1914.

Sad and sudden was the call,
For our darling boy, loved by all.
We little thought that on that day
Our darling would be called away.
Billie, how we miss you no one but us can tell.
But rest in peace, thy work is done.
Thou art gone where those who love you
Soon are coming one by one.

FARMERS:

You will see most now on Western Trip—at lowest cost in years

October is Farmers' Month at Panama-Pacific Fair. Never before were so many agricultural events and exhibits crowded into one place in one month. Twenty-four great stock shows and conventions will be held at the Exposition grounds. Every kind of farming will be represented every day.

Moreover a trip west now will give you the chance to see how the farmers of that section make money—some with great cattle or grain ranches, some with fine fruit farms and some with alfalfa and other crops on small irrigated tracts.

If you buy your ticket via

you will not only pass through the sections of greatest agricultural interest but you will get the best of the fine western scenery. You can stop over anywhere you like with plenty of time to see everything.

This is a fine time to visit the Expositions at San Diego and San Francisco because the summer rush is over and there is plenty of room in trains and hotels. Also all exhibits are now in place and the weather on the Coast is great.

The cost of a western trip is lower than for years past—it may never be so low again. Your expenses at the expositions need not exceed $20 a week.

MEXICAN WOMEN PLEAD FOR BREAD

"Shoot Us!" They Cry---Ordered From Food Line.

DESPERATE LIFE STRUGGLE.

"Death Must Come, but Don't Let Us Starve; the Bullet Is More Merciful." Meanwhile Mexican Bandits, Bolder Than Ever, Are Sparing Neither Rich Nor Poor.

Torreon, Mexico.—Starvation conditions in Mexico City are fairly typical of central northern, northeastern and northwestern Mexico.

Northern Mexico has long since forgotten the principles of the revolution, the political, agricultural, financial and social "reforms" which were the slogans of Villa and Carranza. To the great mass of Mexicans those principles never were more than campaign talk. They understand that the military leaders are merely playing politics with guns instead of speeches, processions and votes.

To make matters worse, the Mexican bandits never were bolder or busier than they are now. With the always chaotic government of Mexico more chaotic than ever, the bandit raiders are sparing neither the poor nor the rich. They are mercilessly plying their trade.

In Torreon eggs sell for 1½ pesos each; chickens, 25 to 35 pesos each; milk, a peso for half a liter; cigarettes (as much an article of food to a Mexican as bread), 2½ and 3 pesos for a package of ten. A silver peso is worth about 13 cents in United States money and a paper peso about 7 cents. Practically there is no meat here, though the hotels occasionally are allotted a little by the government.

TYPE OF MEXICAN BANDIT.

Torreon always has a bread line. It is a long, patient, black robed line of women with bowed heads. Ablebodied men have either been killed or wounded in the fighting or are in conscript service or in hiding. So women and children stand in the bread line in front of the panaderia, or municipal bakery.

While the supply lasts each is given a pittance of cornmeal, sometimes a mere handful. When the supply is gone some turn away to forage in the garbage cans of more prosperous citizens. Others just wait in the bread line. Sometimes they faint before the doors open; sometimes they drop dead, and their bodies lie in the street. There are several of these panaderias, and a line averages 250 persons all the time. Some buy bread instead of taking flour. A tiny loaf of bread, hardly larger than a roll, sells for 50 centavos.

At one of the larger panaderias the crowd waited thirty-six hours. Then gendarmes appeared and ordered the women to leave. They did not refuse to disperse; they simply didn't go. The gendarmes repeated the order loudly and fired pistols in the air. A torrent of Spanish broke out from the women.

"Shoot us!" they cried. "Death must come. Shoot us, but don't let us starve to death. The bullet is more merciful."

Torreon is full of Villa troops, mostly elderly men or young boys. The flower of his army is dead or disabled, principally dead. The army of today is not well uniformed, spick and span, as it was a year ago when Villa was triumphant and his treasury was full of money. Villa's forces are thin, hardened, morose, the result of many battles and a succession of defeats. All that prevents mutiny is fear of the big brown man with the bushy mustache and the blazing eyes—Villa.

The army is sober. So is the civilian population. Knowing that sotol, tequila, mescal and the whole line of native strong drink tend to inflame men and make them ugly, Villa has enforced prohibition.

Northern Mexico is full of wounded men. In the hospitals and on the streets of Torreon and Chihuahua City are about 12,000.

MAKING A SMALL FARM PAY

To Be Successful Farmer Must Be Man of Unusual Ability In Conducting Business Side.

(By W. J. ULLMAN.)

Small farms devoted to general farming rarely, if ever, give an adequate living to the operator. In order to be profitable the small farm must be devoted to some intensive type of agriculture, such as truck, poultry, fruit and intensive dairying. To be successful in any of these lines the farmer must be an unusual man on account of the complexity of the business, not only in growing the crops and caring for the animals, but also in conducting the business side of the farm. Further, if the farm is devoted to perishable products there must be an important advantage in location with reference to markets. The production of perishable products far from the market is attended not only with heavy freight and commission charges, but it also is subject to disastrous fluctuations in prices.

Washing and Preparing Vegetables for Market.

Intensive crops are normally subject to far greater fluctuations in price than are the staples. Taking the country as a whole, vegetables, including potatoes, occupy only 2¼ per cent of the crop area and fruit only 1¾ per cent. Under present conditions this is about all of these crops which can find a market at remunerative prices. On account of the small area involved it is very easy to increase production far beyond demand; in fact, this often happens with results disastrous to specialized, intensive farming. The field for the profitable small farm is, therefore, a very limited one.

MUCH TROUBLE ON PASTURES

Sorrel and Buckhorn Troublesome Where Drought Was Severe Year Previous and Soil Is Thin.

Every year sorrel and buckhorn are causing more trouble on the pasture and meadow land of the corn belt. Especially are these weeds troublesome where drought was bad the year previous, and the soil is thin, says Wallace's Farmer. In rich land containing an abundance of limestone and organic matter, where there is a good stand of clover grass, sorrel and buckhorn cause but little trouble.

How can a farmer get rid of sorrel? The weed is a perennial, and spreads both by underground root-stocks and by seed. On poor land where there is a thin stand of grass, the pest will continue to increase as long as the land is left in the meadow or pasture. Probably the farmer had best plow up those parts of his land which are badly infested with sorrel. Before seeding down again, we would advise the application of one ton of limestone per acre, and ten tons of manure. All clover and grass seed should be carefully examined for sorrel, the seeds of which are shaped exactly like the seeds of dock, but much smaller.

Ground Your Wire Fences.

Use pieces of wire of good size with which to ground at intervals the wire fence against lightning. Beginning at the top give each piece a twist around each wire, down to the bottom, and then well into the ground. You may save a nice cow, or possibly a number of them, in this way. Wire is cheaper than cows.

MISS WINIFRED HOLT.

Miss Winifred Holt, secretary of the New York Association For the Blind, writes from Paris, where she has gone to establish with the help of French military authorities permanent surroundings and occupations for soldiers blinded by war:

"The purposes of the committee are to find the blind sufferers, some of whom are marooned in improvised hospitals, farmhouses or chateaux, and many of whom are segregated in the large hospitals of Red Cross stations.

"The committee will send visitors and teachers to these blind soldiers, furnish them with entertainment through reading, games, etc., and for those physically able it will start the task of putting eyes on their finger tips and giving them light through work.

"We have found all the blind men in the hospitals of Paris and some in their homes. I estimate that there must be from 3,000 to 4,000 blind soldiers in this immediate neighborhood.

"We have begun teaching in the hospitals here and have among our pupils two very interesting and grateful blind officers who will make good teachers and attractive agents for the Paris Lighthouse when it is opened.

"The committee will seek to consider the men's individual interests and abilities and as far as possible to train them in trades and occupations for which their blindness has temporarily unfitted them or to find new openings in which they may become wage earners.

"When they have become proficient it is hoped wherever possible to return them to their home surroundings with the knowledge and tools to make them self helpful. When this is not practical it is hoped to establish them in congenial surroundings, where they may again have a feeling of independence and well being. Without prompt expert assistance soon after loss of sight the blind man is apt to become despondent, to lose his intelligence or to drift into an apathy from which it is difficult, if not impossible, to arouse him later.

"The work is very heartrending, but unspeakably essential. We found a blind soldier the other day who had not left his room in the hospital since the accident and was afraid to walk. After we told him of Fawcett's wonderful life the man jumped up, looking a new human being, and, to the amazement of his nurse and everybody else, strode forth, with his head lifted high, into the corridor and walked up and down with his hands behind his back like any other proud man. That is what hope does for these people, who were desperate until we brought them light.

"I wrote you last week of the young officer who was blind, had lost his arm and had only two fingers remaining on his right hand. He is doing wonderfully and is full of hope and light. His fiancee comes from Corsica to see him at the end of the week. I am to see her before she has the shock of receiving what remains of her soldier, so as to prepare her to appreciate what life may still hold for them both."

Miss Holt wrote that there should be a corps of at least fifty teachers to cope with the work and that funds were badly needed for materials for work and clothes. She hopes her American friends will send her a million dollars. "I can use all of it and to good purpose," she writes.

A Wedding Breakfast.

Serve a fruit cocktail for the first course. This must be ice cold and the fruit prepared long enough in advance for the several flavors to be well blended. Follow this with creamed chicken and mushrooms and potato and nut croquettes, else chicken croquettes and peas, with finger rolls, then tomato salad with dressing and last the ice cream, cake and coffee. Any light wine will be suitable, if there is no objection to its use. Serve with chicken course.

Shredded pineapple, grapefruit and orange pulp make a delicious cocktail. Prepare each separately and sweeten to taste. Let stand on ice several hours; then mix and let stand over night on ice. Serve in sherbet glasses with maraschino cherry on top of each.

COURT UNEVENTFUL

ALMOST NOTABLE FOR ITS LACK OF SPECIAL INTEREST.

MANY ASK FOR DIVORCE

Review of More Important Cases in Term Which Opens Monday Given Below.

That term of court which opens Monday may suit the judge and the lawyers, but it is certainly unsatisfactory to a newspaper man. For it is eventful in its uneventfulness. Most of the docket, both equity and criminal, are cases of little importance, many of which will not even be tried.

The greatest interest will center around the divorce cases, of which there are nineteen, and one suit to annul marriage. Mrs. Nancy Smith, as best friend of Hazel Staples, asks that the wedding contract between her and Harold A. Staples be cancelled. The petition states that the couple, who were married last year when the bride was only 16 years old, have never lived together.

Most of the petitions for separation and divorce were brought by the women. The names of the couples follow: Cora E. vs. Arthur B. Roberts; Ester B. vs. Jesse F. Reynolds; Gertrude vs. Walter S. Cogdill; Sylvester vs. Mary L. McBride; Ethel vs. Frank Griffith; Leota vs. Frank P. Coffin; Emma vs. Lewis D. Nash; Calve C. vs. Hattie Hood; Robert K. vs. Fannie M. Archer; Pearl vs. Earl McKinney; Ida B. vs. Henry H. Bridger; James L. vs. Grace M. Mozingo; Jessie M. vs. Albert R. Swann; Harley vs. Lena Page; George vs. Sarah Davis; Henry L. vs. Lena Hawley; Sylvia vs. Lewis Newman; Henry vs. Mary Blacketer; Charles W. vs. Minnie A. Cummings.

Everet A. Bagley faces a charge of forgery. Two defendants, John Funderburg and Harry Epperson, must answer to the serious charge of carnal knowledge. Mr. and Mrs. Perry Smith will be tried for keeping a gaming device, and Carl Black is charged with furnishing liquor to a minor.

H. J. Beedle asks $500 for the death of two colts, and Ed Allen for damage by sparks from the Chicago Great Western Railway company. Mildred Anderson asks for $1,000 from the city of Maryville for injuries received when she fell from a bridge into a small ravine on Fifth street, near Walnut, April 5.

J. A. Ford and John Aley are suing the Wabash railroad for damages, and Charles McIntyre wants damages from the C., B. & Q.; James B. Horton and Bernard F. Dougan are suing the C. G. W. Two individual damage suits are on file; John H. Hansen vs. John G. Thornhill; Charles W. Cummings vs. William Louden.

Michael Emge and Antoine A. Steffes will be examined October 1 for their eligibility for citizenship. Emmett Growney, Phil Growney, John Eagan, Thomas Eagan, Jess and Alonzo Curtin will be charged with disturbing a public assembly at Conception Junction.

Twenty-four gaming cases are on the docket. Harlan Reece has eight counts against him on that charge, most of which were "inherited" from the former prosecutor by W. G. Sawyers, prosecuting attorney. John McGuire, Elmer Cogdill and Alf Thornton face assault charges.

The rest of the cases have interest only for those immediately concerned. In the equity and trial dockets are fourteen suits on notes, sixteen tax suits, nine parole cases and six partition suits; nine wish to perfect titles, and five are trying to collect accounts through the courts.

Call for Papers.

Extra copies of the woman's edition cannot be delivered by the carrier boys. Papers will be reserved at The Democrat-Forum office for those who have placed orders in advance. Those who have not ordered may be supplied by young ladies on the streets Saturday evening or at the office while the supply lasts.

IT WAS A BEAUTEOUS NIGHT

So Everybody Came Out to Hear the Band in Last Outdoor Concert.

It was a beauteous night, calm and fair. That's what the young man with his lady, also beauteous and fair, said last night.

Thirty-seven automobiles and one—no, not a Ford, but one lonesome horse—were drawn up around the band stand between Third and Fourth streets on Main street. All the cars and the buggy were loaded with people who did not want to miss that last concert of the Fourth Regiment band.

The walks were crowded, the regular audience being swelled by the Normal students. Jimmy had spent his nickel for popcorn and Nellie her penny for a stick of gum and all were happy.

The next time we can hear Prof. T. B. Maulding and his musicians will be in the first of the Sunday afternoon concerts, probably October 3, at the Empire theater.

DO YOU SMOKE CIGARETTES?

You Do?—Then Stay Away From Kirksville, for the Girls Will Shun You.

If you can't get along without the "filthy weed" stay away from Kirksville. One hundred and fifty-two (152, count 'em) of the most beautiful and attractive young maidens of the city have sworn a solemn oath not to associate themselves with anyone who uses the cigarette.

That Adair county seat will sure be a popular town now with the drummers of cigar houses and the Missouri meerschaum. For the dear girlies have no objections to a Havana or even to the good old corn cob pipe.

Worse than ever, the young women are not confined to any particular class. High school sweet-sixteeners, Normal school teachers-to-be, and even business women of rather uncertain age have signed the dreadful compact. The number is expected to go beyond two hundred this week.

And sh-h-h! Perhaps you've guessed it. They are reformers. The gentler sex have all faith that their attractions will be greater than those of the "little white pills." They are bold to say that they believe that the boys will all give up the bad habit when they see that they can enjoy no desirable feminine company unless they do.

We shall see what we shall see.

MT. TABOR READY

WILL DEDICATE SCHOOL TOMORROW IN GRAND STYLE.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

Program of Recitations by Pupils and Addresses by Teacher and County Officers—Basket Dinner.

The big day in the Mt. Tabor school district, three miles northeast of Elmo, is tomorrow. Their new and modern $1,500 school house will be dedicated with music, speeches and a basket dinner. Declamations will be given by Homer and James Woods and Georgia Williamson.

The Elmo band will furnish music throughout the day and the Braddyville orchestra will give several special numbers. The address of welcome will follow the program by the children. It will be delivered by Leonard Yaple.

Miss Laura Walton, who is so fortunate as to be the teacher selected for the coming term, will make an address, after which the good things will be brought forth. A real old-time basket dinner is promised. This time will also be used for an inspection of the building and grounds.

The county school superintendent, Bert Cooper, will make an address at 2 o'clock, followed by Dan R. Baker, county recorder. Then the new ball grounds will be dedicated by a game between Elmo and the Mt. Tabor district. The day's festivities will begin at 10 o'clock.

The school board of the Mt. Tabor district is S. G. Williamson, president; E. O. James, clerk; Edgar Carlson and Earl A. Hopper. They and the people are very proud of their new school building, and justly so. It is considered one of the model rural school houses of the state.

The ultimate purpose of the people of the district is to make the Mt. Tabor school building a community center. With that in view, all arrangements are made for athletics, dinners and social affairs of every kind.

The people mean business, as was shown by the fact that a second election was held this summer to vote $1,600 in bonds when it was found that $1,400 was not adequate.

Besides being modern in all its heating, lighting, ventilating and other arrangements of seating and the like, the building has manual training equipment, and a large basement for indoor play. A large number of visitors from all over the county is expected at the exercises tomorrow to help celebrate the happy event in the Mt. Tabor district.

Prof. S. E. Davis of the Normal and Fred Hull expect to attend from here.

REV. MILLER HAS "1001" DAY."

Picture of Former Christian Church Pastor's Bible School.

A picture of "1001 day" in the First Christian church of Greeley, Col., of which the Rev. C. J. Miller is pastor, comes with special interest at this time, when the Christian church here is planning for a "999 plus you" day in their Bible school.

Rev. Mr. Miller was formerly pastor of the Christian church here. The picture, which covers a double page, is printed in The Lookout, a paper devoted to Bible school and young people's interests. The slogan of the Greeley Bible school was "One of 1001."

ST. JOE LOSES 3-2

BOOSTERS TAKE 11 INNING GAME FROM THE ALL-STARS.

IS PICKERING AFRAID?

Boys From North Have Cancelled Six Games This Year—Last Base Ball of Season.

It seems to be proved. The Maryville Boosters believe that the Pickering team is afraid of them. Yesterday made the sixth time this season that the games between the two teams had been called off by Pickering.

But the Boosters didn't care except for the little time yesterday morning when they didn't know whether they could get a game or not. When they were assured by the All-Stars of St. Joseph that the city team would come they were pleased, for it gave them a chance to avenge a 5-1 defeat earlier in the season.

And it happened even so. The Boosters won yesterday afternoon 3-2. It took them eleven innings to do it, but they did, thanks to a drive over the head of St. Joseph's center fielder by Walter Wray, which scored Scott, who had just made a two-bagger.

Maryville's other two runs were made by Black, who pounded out a home run in the fourth with a teammate already on the bases. Engel, the All-Stars' catcher, was responsible for both of the visitors' runs by means of two clean singles.

The game was rather slow until the fifth inning, when the two teams settled down and played airtight ball until the winning run in the eleventh. Wakeman, pitching for the Boosters, yielded six hits and one walk. Mansfield for St. Joseph was hit for eight safties and permitted three free trips to first.

Richardson was the battery partner of Wakeman. The rest of the line-up was: Tilson, 1b; Black, 2b; Scott, ss; Wray, 3b; Leach and Adams, lf; Woodard, c, and Wiles, rf. I. B. Williams umpired the game. It was so free from errors that he had a rather comfortable time for an umpire.

The game marked the last of the professional and semi-professional base ball in Maryville this season. The Boosters would like to meet that Pickering team, but it's getting too cold. Stove-side discussions of the world series will have to entertain the fans the rest of the season unless they like a good high school game.

TWO PRINCES ARE KILLED

Thurn and Taxis Fell Monday on Austrian Front at the Sereth River—Slav Gains.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Amsterdam, Sept. 24.—A report from Vienna states that Prince Thurn and Taxis have been killed in the fighting along the Sereth river. They fell at the front Monday.

A Kiev report by the way of Petrograd states that the forces of General Vanoff and Brusileff have won a complete victory over the Austrians near Volhynia. The Slav offensive has been resumed along the Styr and Ikwax rivers.

The Austrian front has been broken and several thousand taken prisoners according to the Russian war office. Meanwhile the other army of the Czar east of Lutzk has defeated the Austro-German troops, forcing them to evacuate important positions and to retreat across the Styr with the Russians in close pursuit.

Paris, Sept. 24.—King Constantine of Greece has ordered the mobilization of the armies of his realm, according to a dispatch from Athens. Twenty "Classes" have already been called to the colors by a royal decree.

The action is taken to mean that Greece will hold to her treaty guaranteeing to help Servia in case the latter country is attacked by Bulgaria.

Berlin, Sept. 24.—Von Mackenson's army was forced to retreat from the Russians in the region of Logoschin. The Russians in that district suddenly launched an enveloping movement that seriously threatened the German forces and placed them in a dangerous position.

CONCEPTION MAN ARRESTED.

John Wilson Charged With Theft From Great Western Car.

John Wilson, alias John H. Williams, was arrested Wednesday evening by City Marshal G. L. Purcell on a state warrant, charged with stealing 6,500 El Roi Tan cigars, valued at $367.50, the property of the C. G. W. railway.

The information was filed by H. P. Wandling, C. G. W. special agent, before John W. Wilson, justice of the peace of St. Joseph. The alleged offence was committed July 17. It appears that Williams disposed of the stolen property to a party in St. Joseph, who positively identified him as the party from whom he purchased the cigars. Williams was taken to St. Joseph Wednesday evening for a preliminary hearing.—Conception Junction Courier.

Returns to St. Joseph.

ELMO BARBER SHOT

HOWARD M'CLARON SAID HE WAS CLEANING THE REVOLVER.

HADTHREATENED SUICIDE

Bullet Entered Left Abdomen, Inflicting a Fatal Wound Probably—Said to Have Been Drinking.

Howard McClaron of Elmo is lying at the point of death at St. Francis hospital in this city, as the result of a revolver shot which was self-inflicted at 6 o'clock last night at the McClaron barber shop in Elmo.

The young man, in his account of the accident to the attending physicians, said he was cleaning the revolver when it was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered his abdomen at the left side, and penetrated deeply, making an extremely critical wound.

The young man was attended last night by Dr. R. E. Ferguson of Elmo. He was brought to the hospital in this city to be treated this morning, accompanied by Dr. Ferguson and his mother, Mrs Mary McClaron. Late this afternoon his condition was precarious.

Friends Fear Attempted Suicide.

Mr. McClaron is 28 years old and unmarried. For some time he has been in partnership with his brother, Wesley McClaron, running a barber shop at Elmo.

Friends of the young man living at Elmo say that McClaron has remarked several times that he would some day kill himself, and feel that he might have been cleaning the revolver with the intention of attempting suicide.

It is also said that McClaron was at times a heavy drinker and at such times had made threats of suicide, both to members of his family and to others. He was alone in the barber shop at the time of the accident last night.

Several persons in an adjoining part of the building heard the shot and rushed in to find Mr. McClaron seriously wounded. Beside the young man's mother, his two brothers and three sisters are in Maryville today, summoned here by his serious condition.

Iowa Guests Here.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Job of Fairfield, Ia., are visiting at the home of Mr. Job's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Job, and with his brothers and sister, Eldon and W. L. Job and Mrs. E. F. Shelton, all living west of Maryville.

ANNUAL HOME-COMING DAY.

The First Baptist Church to Have All-Day Services on Sunday, Oct. 3.

The First Baptist church of this city will have their annual home-coming day on Sunday, October 3. It will be an all-day service and the Sunday school leaders are trying to have 500 at Sunday school that morning. The men's class of the church are intending to furnish 100 of the 500 expected. L. C. Gann is president of the men's class.

The suggestion was made by a motorist recently, that a flag should be placed at the corners of the "new" roads between Burlington Junction and Maryville, warning tourists away from the bad lane two miles east of town until it is repaired. The lane is on the Glidden route, and as all the poles are marked, tourists who are not acquainted with the road naturally follow the markings and damage their cars in the mud holes that decorate the lane. It is to be hoped that some agreement will be reached soon on this road, for it is discouraging for the farmers to keep up the other roads and this one lane spoil the whole shooting match.—Burlington Junction Post.

Baby Zebra and Mother In Central Park (New York) Zoo.

New York city is the proud possessor of two zoological gardens, one in Central park and the other in Bronx park. The latter is the larger and is said to be one of the finest institutions of its kind in the world. Central park zoo is much smaller, but still it contains a number of specimens of rare animals. In one respect Central park zoo leads. It now has a baby zebra, said to be the first of its species born in captivity in this country. The picture shows the little fellow being fondled by his mother. The youngster is a finely marked specimen of his race and is as frisky as a young colt. William Snyder, head keeper of the zoo, will soon have the little fellow christened with appropriate ceremonies.

The Queer Penguins.

Sir Ernest Shackleton, who led the British antarctic expedition which so nearly reached the south pole, tells amusing anecdotes of the penguins, that, when standing upright, look from a distance like a lot of dignified gentlemen in black coats and white waistcoats, and many a time shipwrecked castaways in the southern hemisphere, approaching some desolate coast, have imagined the distant penguins sitting upright upon a rocky shore to be human beings. Sir Ernest tells that one day a big penguin strolled into camp and saw one of the shaggy dogs. Mr. Penguin stared and stared and came closer to see what manner of beast this might be, until the dog snapped playfully at the bird's funny short legs. Next day the penguin came again to camp with a personally conducted party of penguins, apparently to show them the dog. They came often after this, and the explorers amused themselves by occasionally giving them a concert with the phonograph, to whose music the birds bobbed around in a circle with much apparent pleasure. About fifteen species are known. The king penguins are the largest. They exist in colonies of many thousands.—Farm Journal.

A Paste Pot Party.

Did you ever give a paste pot party? You'll need some old magazines and a pair of shears, as well as a blank book in which to paste pictures. You can make the blank book yourself from pieces of plain, smooth paper, and, in fact, each little guest might enjoy making such a book for herself or himself. Sick children always like to look at scrap books, and so you might send the ones you make at the party to a hospital after you have finished with them.

A set of cut out paper dolls should be given each child to carry home as a souvenir of the occasion.

Origin of a Word.

The origin of "windfall" in the sense of good luck dates back to the time of William the Conqueror. It was then a criminal offense to cut timber in the forests. Only such could be gathered as the wind had blown down; hence a heavy windstorm was hailed by the peasants as so much good luck, and from this we get the term.

Scarecrow and Snow Man.

The scarecrow was chasing the snow man.
No, it wasn't a dream at all,
For I saw them as plain as daylight
From the top of our garden wall.

There were miles and miles between them,
Or ... perhaps I should say,
For t... passed in December
And ... crow passed in May.

The chase was very exciting.
As on and on they whirled.
But they came no nearer together,
For I followed them round the world.

But the winds blew hard on the scarecrow,
And he found no place to hide;
They tore him to rags and tatters
And scattered him far and wide.

And the sun beat down on the snow man,
In his garments of dingy white;
I saw him grow smaller and smaller
Till he vanished quite out of sight.

But each year the chase is repeated;
You can see it as well as I
If you live near my father's garden
And watch while they're passing by.
—St. Nicholas.

BEDFORD CASE "RE-REVIVED"

Attorney in Omaha Says He is On Trail of Important Evidence—New Grappling Machinery.

That the old murder case at Bedford, Ia., which was revived several months ago, is to be investigated again and the charges pushed was stated to the St. Joseph News-Press yesterday in a dispatch from Omaha: It follows:

Attorney W. W. Bullman of Chariton, Ia., the lawyer who worked up the fifty-year-old murder case against four aged men at Bedford, Ia., two months ago, is in Omaha today en route to Colorado to secure additional evidence against the four associates. The new evidence is to be presented to the grand jury at its meeting next month.

"I was out in Nebraska yesterday and obtained an important piece of evidence," said Mr. Bullman. "I can't divulge the nature of it today. The case has not been dropped, but is being pushed harder than ever. Tonight I go to Denver and from there out into Colorado, where I understand a man has some very important testimony in the case.

"I am now having constructed a piece of special machinery for grappling purposes. Twelve thousand dollars out of the gold chest was stolen when the chest was recovered ten years ago. This $12,000 was placed in a bucket, sealed up and dropped into a 90-foot bored well, only fourteen inches in diameter. It was left in the well a number of years and when the bunch tried to recover it the weight of the gold broke out the bottom of the bucket, which had rotted, and the whole thing dropped back into the well. They have never been able to recover it, and as soon as my machinery is completed I will start grappling for it. It will be an important link in my chain of evidence. The well is near the Klondike farm, and I already have full permission to grapple. Very soon there will be another surprising move in the case."

Premiums for Township Exhibitors.

The merchants of Burlington Junction are offering a number of premiums to the poultry fanciers of this township who exhibit in the Northwest Missouri Poultry association show December 1 to 4. The prizes will be only for the people from this township, and as there will be seven or eight exhibitors all will receive good prizes.

Mrs. W. P. Nicholas, township vice president of the association, has charge of the plans and has been successful in interesting a number of fanciers from Nodaway township to exhibit. It is the general belief that, by getting the poultry raisers and the public in general interested this fall a good corn and poultry show can be held in Burlington Junction next year. We have a number of fancy corn growers, and many good pens of poultry in the township, and all we need to make a good show is a Moses.

The merchants who will give prizes to the Nodaway township exhibitors are: First National bank, Northwestern bank, Vance store, J. W. Praisewater, Carter pharmacy, Jones meat market, Corken & Yaple, Morehouse & Co., Commercial barber shop, Rees Lumber Co., Aesdale's store, City Bakery, Bailey & Griffey, House drug store, Miller jewelry store, Loren E. Smith, Post, Sewell & Cook.—Burlington Junction Post.

High School Notes

By KENNETH VAN CLEVE

The assemblies at the high school this year will be on the same days as last year, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, beginning at 1:20.

Miss Dora Otis of Hopkins, who has spent the last five years in China, spoke Tuesday afternoon of this week to the students about some of the customs and manners of the Chinese, particularly their school life.

Prof. C. A. Hawkins also came down to the high school Tuesday and gave a short talk after Miss Otis had finished.

The two freshman classes together have a large enrollment this year, the total number of "little ones" being eighty-two, forty-one girls and the same number of boys. The senior classes together have seventeen boys and twenty-eight girls. Out of this number the advanced have five boys and eight girls to eleven boys and twenty-one girls of the beginning fourth year class. Miss Laura Hawkins is class adviser to the midyear class, while Miss Keeler acts in that position over the beginning seniors.

The Athletic association of the high school is doing very well this year. Fifty-two members are signed up at present and probably more will get in line later on. A good season in athletics is expected this year.

The advanced seniors are having trouble in selecting their class pins. All classes have the same trouble, it being hard for every member to decide on the same pin.

The beginning seniors had their first gathering together Wednesday night, when they went out on an intended moonlight picnic, but the moon was late in showing up that evening, owing to the location of the clouds.

The "ninth hour," or after school period, has begun again this year, much to the disgust of the students, especially to the boys wanting to get out early and play base ball these days.

The last year's graduates and others who went to M. U. as freshmen from Maryville this fall are sending back startling accounts, illustrated with pictures enclosed, of the many trials and hardships they are forced to undergo at the hands of the sophs. Yes, you happy looking high school seniors of today, you may laugh now when you read one of their letters, but just wait until about this time next year. No doubt you'll get what's coming to you also.

The assembly period Thursday afternoon was turned over to Prof. Becker, manual training instructor and coach, for a talk on school spirit, not only in athletics but in all branches. He made a rousing good talk, and from appearances the high school will be ready to deliver the goods in school spirit this year. Here's hoping, anyway.

The orchestra, glee clubs, dramatic and debating societies and other organizations of the high school will go together again soon. The orchestra has been practicing through vacation and should be able to give a good program some time soon.

The base ball tournament of the three high school teams is still in order each Monday, Wednesday and Friday of good weather. The Pirates and Braves are tied with two games won and one lost apiece, while the Tigers hold down third place with one game won and three lost. A pennant will probably be given to the team winning the tournament.

Bought Great Angus Bull.

Edwin F. Caldwell returned the last of the week from Brandon, Manitoba, Can., where he bought the fine imported Aberdeen Angus bull, Evreaux of Havieston. This animal is four years old, weighs twenty-four hundred pounds and cannot be beaten any place. There was a great deal of competition among Angus owners for this animal and the Caldwells were fortunate in securing it for their herd. Another fine bull added to their show herd last week was Blackup Bertram which Edwin bought from the McHenry herd at Denison, Iowa. With these two animals, for which the Caldwells paid $7,000, their show herd will be the best in the country.

The Caldwell herd is resting at Sedalia this week and will be shown at the state fair next week. They won all of the important prizes at the Kans as state fair at Topeka, Kan., last week —Burlington Junction Post.

Letter to Mr. Berney Harris,
Maryville, Mo.

Dear Sir: It's an old saying: the best advertisement is a pleased customer.

It happens to us continually in this way: A man buys Devoe for his house —he has painted it once in three years for a dog's age, and thinks he knows what he wants—buys 30 gallons, and has 10 left.

He sees right off that 20 Devoe is as much as 30 of anything else. He likes that; it comes quick; it is a surprise; and he tells of it. The best advertisement is a pleased customer.

Three years roll round. There isn't a sign that his house needs paint; he don't paint it. Next year he don't paint it. This comes slow; it is a surprise; but he has got used to it. Still the best advertisement is a pleased customer. Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & CO.,

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of Billie Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin, who was taken away September 20, 1914.

Sad and sudden was the call,
For our darling boy, loved by all.
We little thought that on that day
Our darling would be called away.
Billie, how we miss you no one but us can tell.
But rest in peace, thy work is done,
Thou art gone where those who love you
Soon are coming one by one.

FARMERS:

You will see most now on Western Trip—at lowest cost in years

October is Farmers' Month at Panama-Pacific Fair. Never before were so many agricultural events and exhibits crowded into one place in one month. Twenty-four great stock shows and conventions will be held at the Exposition grounds. Every kind of farming will be represented every day.

Moreover a trip west now will give you the chance to see how the farmers of that section make money—some with great cattle or grain ranches, some with fine fruit farms and some with alfalfa and other crops on small irrigated tracts.

If you buy your ticket via

you will not only pass through the sections of greatest agricultural interest but you will get the best of the fine western scenery. You can stop over anywhere you like with plenty of time to see everything.

This is a fine time to visit the Expositions at San Diego and San Francisco because the summer rush is over and there is plenty of room in trains and hotels. Also all exhibits are now in place and the weather on the Coast is great.

The cost of a western trip is lower than for years past—it may never be so low again. Your expenses at the expositions need not exceed $20 a week.

MEXICAN WOMEN PLEAD FOR BREAD

"Shoot Us!" They Cry---Ordered From Food Line.

DESPERATE LIFE STRUGGLE.

"Death Must Come, but Don't Let Us Starve; the Bullet Is More Merciful." Meanwhile Mexican Bandits, Bolder Than Ever, Are Sparing Neither Rich Nor Poor.

Torreon, Mexico.—Starvation conditions in Mexico City are fairly typical of central northern, northeastern and northwestern Mexico.

Northern Mexico has long since forgotten the principles of the revolution, the political, agricultural, financial and social "reforms" which were the slogans of Villa and Carranza. To the great mass of Mexicans those principles never were more than campaign talk. They understand that the military leaders are merely playing politics with guns instead of speeches, processions and votes.

To make matters worse, the Mexican bandits never were bolder or busier than they are now. With the always chaotic government of Mexico more chaotic than ever, the bandit raiders are sparing neither the poor nor the rich. They are mercilessly plying their trade.

In Torreon eggs sell for 1½ pesos each; chickens, 25 to 35 pesos each; milk, a peso for half a liter; cigarettes (as much an article of food to a Mexican as bread), 2½ and 3 pesos for a package of ten. A silver peso is worth about 13 cents in United States money and a paper peso about 7 cents. Practically there is no meat here, though the hotels occasionally are allotted a little by the government.

Torreon always has a bread line. It is a long, patient, black robed line of women with bowed heads. Ablebodied men have either been killed or wounded in the fighting or are in conscript service or in hiding. So women and children stand in the bread line in front of the panaderia, or municipal bakery.

While the supply lasts each is given a pittance of cornmeal, sometimes a mere handful. When the supply is gone some turn away to forage in the garbage cans of more prosperous citizens. Others just wait in the bread line. Sometimes they faint before the doors open; sometimes they drop dead, and their bodies lie in the street. There are several of these panaderias, and a line averages 250 persons all the time. Some buy bread instead of taking flour. A tiny loaf of bread, hardly larger than a roll, sells for 50 centavos.

At one of the larger panaderias the crowd waited thirty-six hours. Then gendarmes appeared and ordered the women to leave. They did not refuse to disperse; they simply didn't go. The gendarmes repeated the order loudly and fired pistols in the air. A torrent of Spanish broke out from the women.

"Shoot us!" they cried. "Death must come. Shoot us, but don't let us starve to death. The bullet is more merciful."

Torreon is full of Villa troops, mostly elderly men or young boys. The flower of his army is dead or disabled, principally dead. The army of today is not well uniformed, spick and span, as it was a year ago when Villa was triumphant and his treasury was full of money. Villa's forces are thin, hardened, morose, the result of many battles and a succession of defeats. All that prevents mutiny is fear of the big brown man with the bushy mustache and the blazing eyes—Villa.

The army is sober. So is the civilian population. Knowing that sotol, tequila, mescal and the whole line of native strong drink tend to inflame men and make them ugly, Villa has enforced prohibition.

Northern Mexico is full of wounded men. In the hospitals and on the streets of Torreon and Chihuahua City are about 12,000.

MAKING A SMALL FARM PAY

To Be Successful Farmer Must Be Man of Unusual Ability In Conducting Business Side.

(By W. J. [illegible]LLMAN.)

Small farms devoted to general farming rarely, if ever, give an adequate living to the operator. In order to be profitable the small farm must be devoted to some intensive type of agriculture, such as truck, poultry, fruit and intensive dairying. To be successful in any of these lines the farmer must be an unusual man on account of the complexity of the business, not only in growing the crops and caring for the animals, but also in conducting the business side of the farm. Farther, if the farm is devoted to perishable products there must be an important advantage in location with reference to markets. The production of perishable products far from the market is attended not only with heavy freight and commission charges, but it also is subject to disastrous fluctuations in prices.

Intensive crops are normally subject to far greater fluctuations in price than are the staples. Taking the country as a whole, vegetables, including potatoes, occupy only 2¼ per cent of the crop area and fruit only 1¾ per cent. Under present conditions this is about all of these crops which can find a market at remunerative prices. On account of the small area involved it is very easy to increase production far beyond demand; in fact, this often happens with results disastrous to specialized, intensive farming. The field for the profitable small farm is, therefore, a very limited one.

MUCH TROUBLE ON PASTURES

Sorrel and Buckhorn Troublesome Where Drought Was Severe Year Previous and Soil Is Thin.

Every year sorrel and buckhorn are causing more trouble on the pasture and meadow land of the corn belt. Especially are these weeds troublesome where drought was bad the year previous, and the soil is thin, says Wallace's Farmer. In rich land containing an abundance of limestone and organic matter, where there is a good stand of clover grass, sorrel and buckhorn cause but little trouble.

How can a farmer get rid of sorrel? The weed is a perennial, and spreads both by underground root-stocks and by seed. On poor land where there is a thin stand of grass, the pest will continue to increase as long as the land is left in the meadow or pasture. Probably the farmer had best plow up those parts of his land which are badly infested with sorrel. Before seeding down again, we would advise the application of one ton of limestone per acre, and ten tons of manure. All clover and grass seed should be carefully examined for sorrel, the seeds of which are shaped exactly like the seeds of dock, but much smaller.

Ground Your Wire Fences.

Use pieces of wire of good size with which to ground at intervals the wire fence against lightning. Beginning at the top give each piece a twist around each wire, down to the bottom, and then well into the ground. You may save a nice cow, or possibly a number of them, in this way. Wire is cheaper than cows.

MISS WINIFRED HOLT.

Miss Winifred Holt, secretary of the New York Association For the Blind, writes from Paris, where she has gone to establish with the help of French military authorities permanent surroundings and occupations for soldiers blinded by war:

"The purposes of the committee are to find the blind sufferers, some of whom are harbored in improvised hospitals, farmhouses or chateaux, and many of whom are segregated in the large hospitals or Red Cross stations.

"The committee will send visitors and teachers to these blind soldiers, furnish them with entertainment through reading, games, etc., and for those physically able it will start the task of putting eyes on their finger tips and giving them sight through work.

"We have found all the blind men in the hospitals of Paris and some in their homes. I estimate that there must be from 3,000 to 4,000 blind soldiers in this immediate neighborhood.

"We have begun teaching in the hospitals here and have among our pupils two very interesting and grateful blind officers who will make good teachers and attractive agents for the Paris Lighthouse when it is opened.

"The committee will seek to consider the men's individual interests and abilities and as far as possible to train them in trades and occupations for which their blindness has temporarily unfitted them or to find new openings in which they may become wage earners.

"When they have become proficient it is hoped wherever possible to return them to their home surroundings with the knowledge and tools to make them self helpful. When this is not practical it is hoped to establish them in congenial surroundings, where they may again have a feeling of independence and well being. Without prompt expert assistance soon after loss of sight the blind man is apt to become despondent, to lose his intelligence or to drift into an apathy from which it is difficult, if not impossible, to arouse him later.

"The work is very heartrending, but unspeakably essential. We found a blind soldier the other day who had not left his room in the hospital since the accident and was afraid to walk. After we told him of Fawcett's wonderful life the man jumped up, looking a new human being, and, to the amazement of his nurse and everybody else, strode forth, with his head lifted high, into the corridor and walked up and down with his hands behind his back like any other proud man. That is what hope does for these people, who were desperate until we brought them light.

"I wrote you last week of the young officer who was blind, had lost his arm and had only two fingers remaining on his right hand. He is doing wonderfully and is full of hope and light. His fiancee comes from Corsica to see him at the end of the week. I am to see her before she has the shock of receiving what remains of her soldier, so as to prepare her to appreciate what life may still hold for them both."

Miss Holt wrote that there should be a corps of at least fifty teachers to cope with the work and that funds were badly needed for materials for work and clothes. She hopes her American friends will send her a million dollars. "I can use all of it and to good purpose," she writes.

A Wedding Breakfast.

Serve a fruit cocktail for the first course. This must be ice cold and the fruit prepared long enough in advance for the several flavors to be well blended. Follow this with creamed chicken and mushrooms and potato and nut croquettes, else chicken croquettes and peas, with finger rolls, then tomato salad with dressing and last the ice cream, cake and coffee. Any light wine will be suitable, if there is no objection to its use. Serve with chicken course.

Shredded pineapple, grapefruit and orange pulp make a delicious cocktail. Prepare each separately and sweeten to taste. Let stand on ice several hours; then mix and let stand over night on ice. Serve in sherbet glasses with maraschino cherry on top of each.
